

PROF. WILLIAM R. HANNAH

Adjunct Assistant Professor

I taught German for the University of Maryland in Germany in the 1980's and am delighted to return to teaching—always my first calling—after retiring from a 34-year career with Delta Air Lines.

Learning a foreign language is one of life's great adventures, as I can attest. It led me from Mississippi to 44 years of studying, working, and raising a family in Europe, all but 11 of those years in Germany. I love helping students start their own adventure and seeing where it takes them.

Outside the classroom I enjoy sports--all sorts--reading, time with the family, and travel. And I still do a bit of motorcycling when I can.

PRONOUNS

he / him / his

SUBJECT AREAS

German language

EDUCATION

MA, Germanic Languages and Literature,
University of Georgia

BA, German Language and Literature,
University of Georgia

TEACHING LOCATIONS

Wiesbaden, Germany

EMAIL

williamrobert.hannah@faculty.umgc.edu