

Dr.

Scottie

Ehrhardt

Adjunct Associate Professor

PRONOUNS

he, him, his

SUBJECT AREAS

Government,
Philosophy,
Professional and Career Exploration

EDUCATION

PhD, Public Policy and Social Change, Union
Institute and University
MA, International Relations, Troy University
BA, Arts, Media, and Culture, University of Washington

TEACHING LOCATIONS

Garmisch Military Community, Germany

EMAIL

scottie.ehrhardt@faculty.umgc.edu

My teaching philosophy is centered around creating an inclusive and collaborative learning environment, where both students and instructor learn together. I strive to encourage a culture of intellectual curiosity, where diverse perspectives are valued and respected. Through this approach, I empower students to become active learners, thinkers, and problem-solvers, rather than mere recipients of information.

I have over 20 years' experience in the Federal Government working various positions in many different locations. I also have 10 years of duty as an Army infantry soldier with two combat tours. I married my high school sweetheart Ann; we have been together for over 30 years. Our two children (Makenzie and Josua) are grown with their own families (4 grandchildren). I have been to Germany 3 times before (Friedberg, Baumholder, Stuttgart) and am a first generation American with both parents coming from Germany.

Professionally, I have served as an Adjunct Professor for the University of Maryland Global Campus before conducting classes in Political Science, International Relations, and Philosophy/Ethics in Stuttgart. I have been able to develop my academic background while working full-time as a Government Employee (Dept. of the Army) and raising a family which gives me an empathetic insight to the work/life balance necessary for the success of the students. I look forward to supporting those seeking their education.